

THE BLACK LAW NETWORK 1 YEAR IMPACT MAGAZINE

2024-25

INTRODUCTION FROM OUR FOUNDER

“1 year ago I launched The Black Law Network (BLN).

A community founded with the intention of providing space, support, and connections to aspiring lawyers of Afro-Caribbean heritage.

Because I was tired of going into assessment centres, internships, and constantly being the only person in the room.

That didn't feel like an accomplishment to me

It made me feel like a tick-box. When I first began dreaming up the Black Law Network as a Year 13 student, I had one vision in mind — to build the network I wish I'd had: a community where Black aspiring lawyers could thrive, feel seen, and access real opportunities.

One year later, that dream has evolved into a growing national movement of over 700 members. Together, we've proven that representation isn't just about visibility — it's about agency, confidence, and collective power.

This report celebrates our first year of impact: the milestones, partnerships, and people who made it happen.”

Members Spotlight

Congratulations to our members, Ann, Joyanne and Grace for securing work experience with CMS!

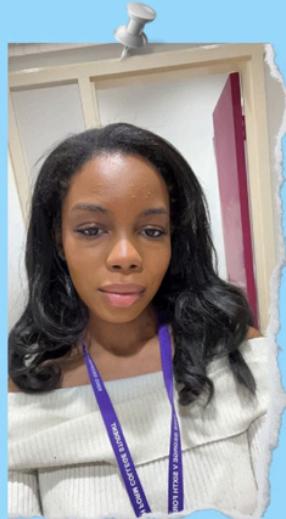

Ann - BLN Member

My application process was not that hard, just two questions really helping me delve deeper into why I wanted the work experience and why I wanted to study law. I encourage everyone to apply to this programme because CMS are really open to widening the access to law, as well as the fact that everyone has their own motivations to get into this programme. My law advisor encouraged me to describe what interests you and what drives you. Give examples/evidence of how you've managed to explore that interest. Talk about why you want to apply and what skills you hope to improve/develop. In the work experience section, you can add any experience, even if it seems irrelevant, as long as it has transferable skills that can apply to law.
P.S. Don't be afraid to brag! Make yourself look as good as possible.

HOW HAS BLN SUPPORTED YOU?
BLN has helped me overall with a great sense of community, the feeling of knowing that I'm not alone, and I've got a support group helping me with school, applications or just life. In this case I used some of the general tips for work

Grace - BLN Member

I am so excited to have been accepted onto the CMS Connect programme! I'm especially looking forward to gaining insight into corporate and commercial law. To anyone thinking of applying next year: Tailor the application questions to CMS - include specific values, the CMS's clients etc.

HOW HAS BLN SUPPORTED YOU?
Tyra has helped a lot, giving multiple programmes, helping with WEX, that stuff. Earli has helped: whenever I needed advice to apply for a programme, she helped. Then the seminars are good as well. Then the wisdom Wednesday today for video interviews was really helpful

Joyanna - BLN Member

The application process for CMS was really straightforward and supportive. It felt like they genuinely wanted to get to know me rather than just assess me. I'm excited to see, firsthand, what a career in law looks like day to day, connect with current lawyers, use this opportunity to ask questions, and build confidence. To anyone thinking about applying next year, my advice is to just go for it! Do some research about the law firm, and most importantly, believe in your potential!

HOW HAS BLN SUPPORTED YOU?
Seeing others share their journeys and achievements gave me the confidence to go for opportunities I might have otherwise talked myself out of. It's amazing to feel part of a community that really gets it and wants to see you win.

The Law Debate Night at Schillings brought together members of The Black Law Network for an engaging and thought-provoking discussion on one of the most relevant topics for aspiring lawyers: apprenticeship versus university pathways. Participants showcased their knowledge, reasoning, and persuasive skills as they debated the merits and challenges of each route into the legal profession. The evening highlighted the diversity of experience and perspective within the network, fostering a space where members could critically examine the choices shaping their futures while sharpening their advocacy skills.

After the debates, the night transitioned into a relaxed networking session complete with pizza and conversation, allowing attendees to connect, share experiences, and build relationships. This combination of intellectual challenge and community bonding perfectly captured the essence of The Black Law Network, empowering members to grow, learn, and celebrate one another's achievements. The event not only offered insight into career pathways but also strengthened the sense of unity and shared purpose that drives the network forward.

BLACK. LAW CONFERENCE

The Law Conference reminded us that progress is not achieved in isolation but through the bridges we build between generations, experiences, and perspectives. As future and current legal professionals came together, conversations sparked collaboration, mentorship, and a shared commitment to transforming the face of law. The stories, insights, and ambitions exchanged throughout the day reflected a powerful truth, that the future of Black excellence in the legal sphere is one of unity, resilience, and purpose. By connecting today's changemakers with tomorrow's leaders, The Black Law Network continues to create pathways that ensure our community not only thrives but leads with integrity and vision.

SAY MY NAME

AUGUST CAMPAIGN

♪@the.black.law.net

2025

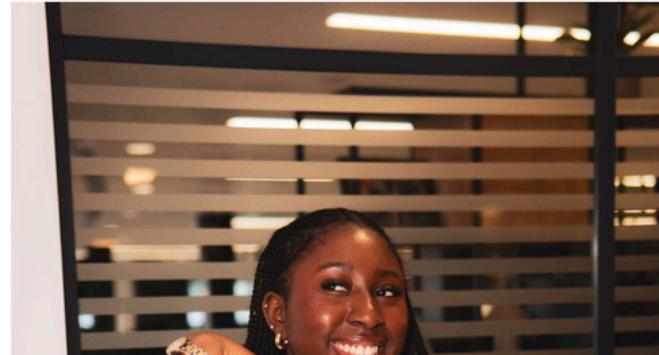

asked to tell stand up, say our full names and breakdown what it means. Until that day, I had never fully grasped the significance of the multiple names I bear - that my introduction to the world can hold so much power.

My name reminds me of the goodness and blessing of God in my life. It also reminds me of the richness of both my Yoruba and Edo culture (for those that don't know I'm half Yoruba and Edo- a crucial part of my identity I only found out about in Year 10).

Many know me as Grace, often telling me they feel blessed when they say my name. These past few years, I've resonated more with my Yoruba name - it reminds me of Gods goodness over my life, and that he continues to stay good and faithful.

What does your name mean, and how does it resonate with you ?

SAY MY NAME

"A CHANCE TO CELEBRATE THE STORY, CULTURE AND MEANING BEHIND YOUR NAME."

parents thought I was going to be a boy 😊 ... (I don't know how I would've coped because I love being a girl.) After my parents found out my gender, they were stuck on names to give me. They wanted something unique, and then my older cousin (who I consider my sister) came up with my name—Honoria, derived from my grandma's name, Honorine.

My name means "to honour." I've received countless compliments on it, but I've also heard more mispronunciations than I can count. Still, that just shows how much it stands out.

My surname, Diangituka, comes from my Congolese heritage. Surprisingly enough, it doesn't have a listed meaning but approximately 228 people bear this surname, and I'm proud to be amongst them.

I want to thank The Black Law Network (BLN) and their #SAYMYNAME campaign for enabling me to share a part of me that I don't usually speak on.

Hello network!

This isn't one of my usual posts, but I thought I'd bring a different perspective to the #SAYMYNAME campaign.

My name is Grace Ifeoluwa Ige. The name Ifeoluwa originates from the Yoruba culture and means love of God or God's love. However, I go by the name Grace.

And no my name isn't difficult to pronounce, it doesn't hold much cultural significance and it isn't as eccentric or unheard of in comparison to the other names out there however, it still holds a special place in my heart.

Grace within Christianity means unmerited favour, mercy and forgiveness and God's grace is the reason that we are saved despite our sinful human nature but it can also mean elegance and beauty. Having this name has been a part of my identity for my whole life as it has taught me to be forgiving, to love others and to show mercy to others just like Jesus has done for me!

Although on the surface level, the name Grace seems like the name of a person you've probably met in your lifetime or the name of a prayer you say before eating your food or after a church service, to me it has been

CITY CENTURY AWARD

BEST THIRD PARTY COLLABORATION

NOMINEE

“WE DID IT JOE”

This was exactly how we felt when our LinkedIn Lead, Isaac Kamidiora, read out our nomination email—mid-pitching for an upcoming event! 😱

The Black Law Network (BLN) has been nominated for a City Century Award! 🏆

One of these days, Isaac might actually give me a heart attack with these surprises 😊

Shocked. Happy. Surprised. Delighted. Excited.

We felt everything—but most of all, grateful.

We're incredibly thankful to City Century for nominating us for Best Third Party Collaboration, alongside so many stellar organisations, including our amazing BLN partners LittleLaw and Wealthbrite.

Solicitor Apprenticeships are a crucial pathway—they make law accessible to those who might not otherwise have the opportunity.

As a law student, I can say firsthand how financial barriers deeply impact the journey. City Century's work in this space has been nothing short of phenomenal.

A massive congratulations to our very own Treasurer, Tolu Ayeni, for being nominated for Solicitor Apprentice: Paving It Forward!

We're so excited for what promises to be an incredible evening!

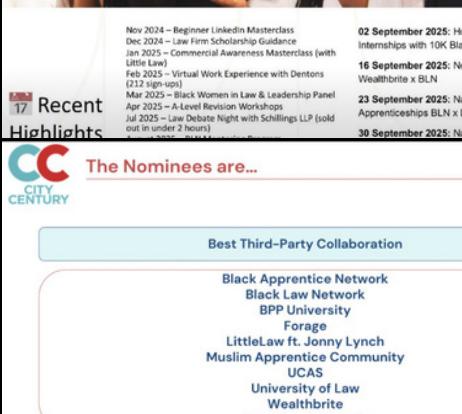

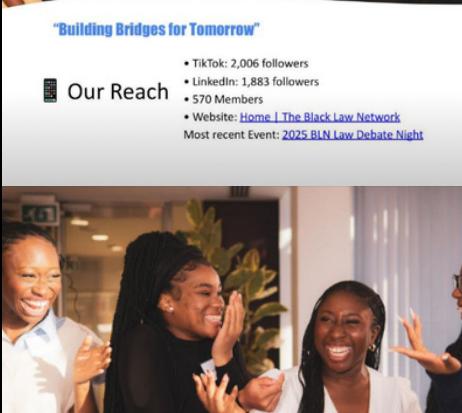

Huge thanks to City Century, Patrick McCann, Joanna Hughes, Lila Vialat, and Joanne Gubbay for the recognition—and to our powerhouse leadership team:

Carley, Grace, Chiamaka, Jane, Anthony, Nana, Isaac, Tolu, Tyra, Chase, Deborah (Zoe), Faysal—you've all been phenomenal this year!

Let's keep pushing boundaries. 🚀
